The first request is very achievable, the second request is more problematic Mike. Ultimately, its the folks responding that have to choose if they respond to all or just to me. Glad to see you got it though.

Two suggestions for the public registry:

Would it be possible to list entries in reverse order so the most recent appears at the top of the page? This would make it easier for readers to get to the most recent information without scrolling through all the entries.

Is it possible to suppress the distribution list? I get a lot of Spam from other interveners when they hit the "reply to all" button.
