Dear Mr. Cliffe-Phillips,

As per our previous communications, in light of the recent cluster of infections identified in Yellowknife, and with the possibility of these infections being related to some of the variants being seen in Alberta and elsewhere in Canada, Kátł'odeeche First Nation has decided to postpone it's April 29th scoping meeting for the Pine Point Environmental Assessment.

With the return of the COVID-19 testing results and variant testing results relating to the aforementioned cluster, KFN will further be able to decide if in-person scoping meetings can take place in the following weeks (as preferred) or if a virtual meeting may be required.

Thank you,

Patrick Riley
